

HMR Supplies Overcomes Challenges in Maritime Industries

HMR Supplies has an array of equipment that can handle all manner of huge, heavy, difficult equipment on a wide variety of terrain — even if the terrain is underwater.

HMR Supplies equipment has been handling ships of all sizes for years, whether carrying them through construction or maintenance facilities or helping to pull them out of the water. When a fishery in Alaska wanted a solution that would allow them to dry dock their fleet every year without traveling to a haul-out location in Seattle, HMR Supplies consulted on the design and developed submersible Holland Dollies.

GET MORE EFFICIENT USE FROM ALL YOUR EQUIPMENT

HMR Supplies has helped customers become more efficient by providing the most cost-effective tool to accomplish heavy material handling tasks. Rather than have a backlog of projects waiting to use your larger self-propelled modular transporter (SPMTs), use a smaller 3 or 4 axle SPMT customized to your project needs. Our self-loading and un-loading transporters can be adapted to mesh with a variety of products with the lowest load-out height in the industry. HMR Supplies can develop a solution that will keep all of your projects moving.

No matter what you have to move and where you have to move it, HMR Supplies has the expertise to design a system to get it done.

Creating Solutions. Solving Problems.

HMR Supplies is People who Find Solutions

Our ability to manufacture and deliver high-capacity, durable and efficient heavy material transport equipment is only part of what HMR Supplies does for its customers.

What really sets us apart is the way HMR Supplies combines our existing products with employee ingenuity, expertise and full design-and-build capabilities to become our customers' valued partners, helping them understand and overcome challenges.

We start by listening and learning about what you want to achieve. We then help envision the best solution to that problem, and finally find the ideal combination of products and processes that make the vision a reality. The solution could include any combination of an existing HMR Supplies product, an existing product that's uniquely customized or an entirely new piece of equipment.

No matter what it takes, HMR Supplies is committed to helping customers design and execute plans to handle and transport huge, heavy, awkward items safely and as cost-effectively as possible.

Contact HMR Supplies today and start the conversation about overcoming whatever challenges you face.

Call us at 641-585-3630, or visit us online at hmr-supplies.com.

A HERITAGE OF HEAVY LIFTING

HMR Supplies traces its roots in heavy transport back to 1968, and we've been manufacturing the industry-leading Holland Dollie since 1981. That's more than four decades of experience serving structural movers, heavy haulers, large construction, large product manufacturers and the oil field, cement, marine and wind industries.

Creating Solutions. Solving Problems.